

Legacy Plan Starter

Will, beneficiaries, the letter your family opens if you're gone.

A watchman thinks about what happens if he falls. Most men avoid this until it's an emergency for someone else. This week, AI helps you draft the framework — the will outline, the beneficiary list, the instructions to your family about accounts, passwords, and where the important things are. AI drafts the skeleton; you take it to a lawyer; you don't die without it.

THE ACTION

- Ask AI to generate a legacy-plan framework: will outline, beneficiary checklist, an "if I'm gone" instructions document.
- Fill in the framework — accounts, key contacts, where documents live, who to call. Keep sensitive specifics off the AI; just build the structure.
- Write the short letter: what you'd want your wife and kids to know and do in the first week.
- Book the lawyer appointment to make the will real. AI drafts the framework; a professional makes it binding.

THIS IS LOVE, NOT MORBIDITY

Leaving your family a clear plan is one of the kindest things you'll ever do for them — and one of the most-avoided. Do the avoided thing this week.

SCRIPTURE

Proverbs 13:22 — "A good man leaves an inheritance to his children's children." An inheritance isn't only money — it's a family that isn't left scrambling. Plan it.
