

Define Your Watchman's Redlines

Five categories that never leave your machine. Make it architectural.

Everything you've classified, bounded, and sealed across this course comes together here. This week you name the five categories of content that will never leave your machine — pastoral notes, your kids' health and education, family conflict, financial detail, business strategy — and you wire local AI to handle exactly those. The boundary stops being aspirational and becomes architectural.

THE ACTION

- Pull together your tier-Sensitive list (W1.T2), your Cowork redlines (W7.T1), and your counseling redline (W10.T2).
- Name your five non-negotiable categories that never touch a cloud model.
- Route those categories to your local model from W11.T1 — make it the actual tool you reach for.
- Write the Redlines as a one-page standing order. This goes into your Adjutant next week.

ARCHITECTURAL, NOT ASPIRATIONAL

A redline you merely intend is a redline you'll cross under pressure. Wire it into how the tools are actually set up, so doing the right thing is the path of least resistance.

SCRIPTURE

Proverbs 4:23 — "Keep your heart with all diligence, for out of it spring the issues of life." Guarding what's sensitive is guarding the heart of your home and ministry. Build the wall on purpose.
